

"My beloved sister!

I can never forget your beautiful face and your kind words. I will always cherish the times I spent traveling through life with you as your younger sister.

I can never forget how you and brother-in-law invited my son to Singapore during the war, keeping him safe and guiding him with such love and affection. How can I ever forget the days I spent in Singapore, laughing and sharing so many stories with you? Even thinking of them today reflects the deep bond of our sibling love.

Om Shanti.

From your grieving sister, Rani
